

Undoing Racism

A workshop presented by The People's Institute

September 25 - 27, 2007

Home of the Innocents

1100 East Market Street, Louisville, KY 40203

September 25-26: 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., September 27: 8:30 am - 12:30 p.m.

You are invited...

The fabric of racism is inextricably woven and constructed into the founding principles of the United States. Racism was done and it can be undone through effective anti-racist organizing with, and in accountability to the communities most impacted by racism. The People's Institute believes that effective community and institutional change happens when those who are agents of transformation understand the foundations of race and racism and how they continually function as a barrier to community self determination and self sufficiency.

These workshops are being sponsored by the Cabinet for Health and Family Services in partnership with the agencies listed below. These workshops are being brought to Louisville to help address racial disproportionality that occurs in various organizations in our community.

Through dialogue, reflection, role-playing, strategic planning and presentations, this workshop includes an intensive process that challenges participants to analyze the structures of power and privilege that hinder social equity and prepares them to be effective organizers for justice.

Please join us in the search for better ways to improve opportunities and outcomes for families and children of color.

For more information or reservations, please contact the training coordinator for your employer. More information is also available at www.jointheconversation.net.

